Share from Megan Moslander, Chief of Development & External at Legal Aid of Nebraska:

The CDC's Eviction Moratorium that has served to protect at-risk tenants across the nation will come to an end on July 31st. The Biden Administration has made clear that this order will not be extended.

This means the strongest safeguard in place to protect renters will no longer be available and we anticipate an increase in adverse action taken against those who have been impacted by the pandemic.

Legal Aid of Nebraska is committed to protecting those who are at risk of eviction. Although the CDC Moratorium is ending, there are still options for our vulnerable populations:

- Emergency Rental Assistance Program: Any individual who has been financially impacted by COVID-19 can apply for rental assistance through the appropriate provider. Funds can cover rental arrears and future rent, past due utilities, internet and cellphone services. At this time, the deadline to apply for emergency rental assistance is August 31, 2021.
- Legal Aid of Nebraska's Housing Justice Project: The Housing Justice Project is committed to promoting housing stability across the state. Our attorneys can provide a range of legal services, including eviction protection, preservation of housing, and homelessness prevention.

As the eviction process moves swiftly in Nebraska, it's crucial that we connect those at risk of eviction with our attorneys as quickly and efficiently as possible. If you are working with individuals or families at risk of eviction, please direct them to Legal Aid of Nebraska. Individuals can call Legal Aid of Nebraska to apply for services: Statewide Accessline: 1-877-250-2016, COVID-19 Hotline: 1-844-268-5627.
